Authorised Representative and Advocates

The Telecommunications Consumer Protections Code requires that every Australian Telecommunications Provider allows customers to appoint a representative to deal with the supplier (e.g. a family member or consumer advocate).

The Code allows for two kinds of representative, Advocates and Authorised Representatives.

What is an Advocate?

An Advocate is a person nominated by you to deal with us on your behalf (but unlike an Authorised Representative, does not act as your agent nor have authority to access any of your account information).

What can an Advocate do?

A person acting as your Advocate has no power to act on your behalf and has no access to your information without you being present and agreeing to such action.

What is an Authorised Representative?

An Authorised Representative is a person who has permission from you to deal with us on your behalf as your authorised agent.

What can an Authorised Representative do?

A person appointed as an Authorised Representative has the power to act on your behalf as if they are you or, if you have limited their rights, they may only access your information subject to those limitations.
